Getting to and from the new Western Sydney International (WSI) Airport

Whether connecting to a flight, heading home, or commuting for a job at the new Western Sydney International Airport, you can look forward to smooth and convenient connections thanks to a thoughtfully designed integrated network of bus services, roads, and walking and bike paths.

Key new infrastructure and public transport services – including upgrades to The Northern Road and Bringelly Road, the M12 Motorway, and electric buses supporting more bus services for Western Sydney will improve airport access and reduce travel times.

Public transport

Dedicated public transport options provide connections to and from the airport terminal.

Western Sydney bus services are available linking the airport with Penrith, Oran Park, Leppington, Liverpool, Campbelltown and Mount Druitt.

Buses operate seven days a week between 5am and 10pm, departing every 30 minutes.

WSI Link is a fare free bus between St Marys Station and the airport. This temporary service will be available from when passenger flights commence until Sydney Metro services begin running to and from the airport.

The bus service runs every 30 minutes from 4.30am to midnight, Sunday to Thursday, and from 4:30am to 1am on Friday and Saturday.

Western Sydney bus services and WSI Link connect into the existing Sydney Trains and NSW Trainlink network, providing access to Greater Sydney, Penrith, the Blue Mountains and beyond.

Bike riding and walking paths

A 16-kilometre shared pedestrian and bike corridor stretches the length of the new M12 Motorway. It connects to the airport from The Northern Road in the west, and from the M7 Motorway in the east where it links up with the existing M7 shared path towards Blacktown.

Secure bike storage sheds are available at the airport, located a short walk from the terminal.

Taxi ranks and rideshare zones

Dedicated taxi ranks and rideshare pick-up zones are located directly outside the airport terminal.
